HOME JOTTINGS.

Mr. Frank Hughes has been quite ill for the past two weeks.

Mr. Dr. Blackberry is very ill with pneumonia, and not expected to live.

A call from Dr. Grinstead, of Shelby city, last Monday, made us happy.

Mr. Al. Jones, of Wayne, was in town on Monday, without stock—for rarity.

Thanks to W. B. McRoberts, of Philadelphia, and Dr. W. C. Swinney, of Mo., for late papers.

The velvet square of the office-seeker's hand sent sunshine to many shaded hearts last Monday.

Dr. H. Brown, of Hustonville, was thrown from his buggy a few days since and bruised pretty severely.

Like Mark Twain, we think the city fathers should dilute the mud on our streets a little more, and give us first class canals.

It is said that there are four thousand applicants for the Agency of the Southern Railway depot at Shelby City, Hustonville and Mowen.

Mr. Marcum, one of the live stock dealers of Wayne, was in town on Monday, with a lot of stock hogs and cattle, but refused to sell at the prices offered.

We were glad to learn, last Monday, that Mr. Green Bright has recovered from the injuries received several weeks ago from a fall from his buggy.

Delegates and others attending the 18th of February Convention at Frankfort will be supplied with round trip tickets to the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

To-morrow will be St. Valentine's day. We are too old to be fooled with, and do hope no one will send us one of those miserable caricatures and ruffs an even tempo.

Our old fellow-townsmen, Mr. Carson, who it is said, was "sprayed out of house and home" lately by one of our live preachers, has engaged in the drug business at Lancaster.

The merchant who does not advertise liberally in his country paper has been very appropriately compared to a man who has a lantern but is too timid to buy a candle.

Our young friend J. S. Jones has established a coal agency at Hill and Hill, and is operating on a large scale. Coal dealers will find it to their interest to open a business with Mr. Jones.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Wm. Daugherty elsewhere. Mr. D. is a good workman, and employs good smiths. His prices are given and will be found quite an inducement.

We are glad to be able to announce that the measles are rapidly disappearing from the Turnersville neighborhood, and that Prof. Chevis has reopened his school with flattering prospects.

Mr. Gilliam, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, has secured the services of Wm. Sewell, Esq., of Somerset, as clerk. Mr. Sewell is in his popular element in the office of a hotel, having a peculiar talent for the entering profession.

Our young friend Joe Carson of Louisville, was driving along Main street Saturday evening last, when the axle of his buggy broke, and he was thrown out in the mud luckily escaping injury. The horse made havoc with the vehicle.

The Carle's Mercury makes the "unprecedented liberal offer" of a "beautiful chromo worth ten dollars," to any one who will send fifty announcements for county offices, accompanied by the cash, and violates the confidence of chromo-makers by adding that the chromo can be bought at thirty cents each.

The fashion that is prevailing amongst the young ladies of trying on their taper fingers when young men are expected to look, I turned the cause blushing reply, "I turned them broiling the steak this morning," will result in the burning of the fingers of those young fellows who believe the story.

Dr. S. P. Craig, of this place, has recently received an appointment as U. S. Medical Examiner of applicants for pensions. This is a high compliment to a deserving young physician, as he does not belong to the "timidly" persuasion, and may possibly have written a letter of introduction to a "red" during the late butchery.

Mr. T. S. Boughton, of Fayette county, one of the chief officers of the order of G. K. in Kentucky, was in town on Wednesday last, giving instruction to the members of Stanford Grange, and left in company with several prominent Grangers for Turnersville for the purpose of organizing a Grange at that place on Wednesday night.

Many of the members of the Lodge of Good Templars at Stanford have become lukewarm in the cause of temperance and rarely visit the Lodge. A few life members, however, have determined to keep up their organization at all hazards, defraying the expenses uncompromisingly, with the hope of accomplishing much more good. Eds. perpen.

On Monday last, a young man named Cain had a difficulty with a negro man in town, and as the negro, Hugh Bailey, made it with a pitchfork, Cain shot at the negro but missed him, and the ball struck a young man, Mr. Ball, son of Lyndsey Ball, who was endeavoring to stop the difficulty. The wound is not dangerous. Cain made his escape.

Alex. Martin should make a note of the fact that the Georgia Legislature will pass a law to prohibit the capture and sale of the songster of the South, the mocking bird, which is in danger of extinction if the sale of them is not checked, and the birds given an opportunity to increase. The musical "yellow-hammer" will be in demand next season.

Some of the farmers of this county are imitating the movements of that greedy class of feathered songsters that are said to diminish the race of worms and are starting their phony lives. Others think the ground too damp for plowing, while others have forgotten the corner of the fence, and in which field on the plantation they left their plows last Spring, and consequently are not ready for business.

The entire JOURNAL fore by special invitation, took dinner at the Pendleton Hotel (late Yates House) on Monday last, and the dinner and surroundings evinced the fact that the Pendleton Brothers "know how to keep hotel." The low the proprietors sustained by free-lunching our ravenous fore, makes us unhappy; and we hope that some two or three hundred guests will feed there during the next few weeks to enable them to get even.

We are grateful to our obliging Congressman, M. J. Durham, for several copies of that INTERESTING LITERARY JOURNAL ENTITLED THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

From it we observe with pleasure that Mr. Durham is one of the wide-awake men of Congress, and a useful member. We learn that Mr. Durham has taken unusual pains to put himself in reference to the opinions and desires of his constituents on the currency and other questions, and we shall watch with some interest his record on the financial questions especially.

In our Palaski Department will be found the gospel of internal improvements. We are sure our public spirited readers to Mr. Card's admirable article on the Stanford, Somerset and Monticello turnpike with the confident hope that something will be done immediately towards the building of this badly-needed road. As far as our own county is concerned, we have no hesitancy in pledging it to complete the road to the Palaski line.

Ministers of the Gospel who are receiving from $15 to $100 per sermon for their discourses should fly to the relief of Elder S. Gordon, of Knox county, who writes to the Mountain Echo that he "has labored as a minister of the Gospel for the last thirteen years; has traveled over several counties and has baptized over one thousand persons. The stated in organizing several churches, and in all that time has received but ten dollars."

Considerable commotion was created here yesterday by the announcement that the firm of Hornsby & Anderson, of Lancaster, "cattle kings" of Central Kentucky had suspended their paper going to protest. We are not advised as to the extent of their liabilities, but they are said to be largely in excess of their ability to pay. Several of our clever farmers are among the creditors, but none will be embarrassed to any injurious extent.

We have received a copy of the 5th annual report of the Superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Danville, and find that the average number of pupils at attendance during the past session was 78—43 males and 35 females; the health of the school excellent during the past year, and no deaths reported. The funds of the institution have been judiciously managed and the total expenditures for the year $20,404.43. We will perhaps find space next week to give a synopsis of the report.

We accidentally stumbled upon a regular Craddock monthly last Monday, viz: There are living in the Hanging Fork neighborhood in this county, about adjoining farms, six young and vigorous progenitors, having ten living children each, and so far as we are able to ascertain, not a single "black sheep" in their flock. At the peril of having our eyes closed by the metaphorical we give the names of these truly patriotic citizens: Rev. S. H. King, Sotell, W. Givens, Jack Bosley, James L. Thurmond, Thos. Lillard and Logan Dawson. Truer, better men never lived in old Lincoln.

The Board of Trustees of Stanford, at their last meeting, adopted an ordinance for the protection of the shade trees on the sidewalks of the town. Under this ordinance, which is now in effect, a fine of one dollar will be inflicted upon any person who hitches an animal to one of these trees, or breaks, cuts, or otherwise damages one. The owners of property upon which the trees are planted are not exempt from the fine. Without this protection, it is useless to plant shade trees, but with it, and a good Marshal to see that the ordinance is enforced, we will, in a few years, have a number of pretty shade trees along Main St. We hope that others will follow the example of Messrs. Baughman, Carson, Miller et al., and plant trees along their sidewalks before Spring opens.

We are gratified to be able to say that some of our friends are coming forward and paying their arrears to this office, but there are a host of debtors who have not yet responded to our demands for a settlement. The demand is imperative. There can be no further delay. We have a large amount due us from prosperous citizens of this and other counties who are able to pay, and should pay upon the first intimation from us that the sums are needed. We have been exceedingly lenient towards our debtors; and they ought to appreciate it. We hope that all who owe us, however small the amount, will, without further solicitation from us, do us the favor, and themselves the credit, to come forward at once and save us the annoyance and expense of collecting through other parties.

We noticed an unusual feature in our County Court day last Monday, viz: some fifteen or twenty drunken men; several of whom were a little boisterous, and gathered around certain law-abiding citizens in town giving them the disgusting appearance of California doggies. One of the results of too much liquid circus was the shooting of a young man by his friend in attempting to kill an impudent negro. To the liberality of certain candidates we must attribute the unusual amount of drinking and drunkenness. We notice with some pleasure, we candidly admit, a determination on the part of many of the good citizens of Stanford and the Board of Trustees to keep a strict watch upon the franchise of our town, and upon the first violation of the laws governing them, to have the license of the offenders cancelled. There are enough avowed temperance men in Stanford to see that the law controlling whisky selling are complied with and they intend to do it. "Benevolent vigilance is the price of liberty."

On the 15th day of January, the dead body of Mike Rogers, an Irish laborer, was found near this place, and an inquest held, resulting in a verdict of "came to his death by excessive drinking and exposure to cold." Suspicion of foul play was aroused in the minds of some of the citizens in the vicinity, and an application made to the county Judge for a disinterment, which was granted, and another examination of the body held under the supervision of the coroner and a physician, and no grounds discovered for the suspicion of violence upon the body. The corpse was consigned to its narrow home again; but not to remain in peace, as certain parties were still unsatisfied; so that it was deemed proper to disinter the body again and have the stomach examined by a chemist. It was forwarded to Louisville for examination, but the fee required by the chemist, $300, was thought to be too exorbitant, and here the matter rests. Mike's stomach is in Louisville and his body here. Somebody is resting under the grave suspicion of having committed a foul murder, with no means of establishing his guilt or innocence. It seems to us to be an ugly affair; not certainly an outrage especially so, because the matter has excited so much attention in the neighborhood, and been carried so far, we think it should not be allowed to drop here. The party who is suspected should be either convicted or relieved of every vestige of suspicion; and that can be done only by the payment of the fee demanded and a chemical analysis.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

By Our Special Correspondents.

TURNERSVILLE.

Your readers are aware that Turnersville is a pretty little village equidistant from Stanford and Hustonville, situated in the "golden spot" of old Lincoln, in the midst of an intelligent and wealthy farming community. Among the few items of news that are about this week, we will mention the following: Mr. R. F. Good sold his farm to Mr. Adam Casy at $55 per acre. At the sale of the personal property of Aaron Carter, deceased, which took place a few days ago, good prices were obtained. At this sale our fat neighbor, Geo. W. Alford, officiated as auctioneer, and laid the basis for a reputation in that line of usefulness co-extensive with the popular Kidd of Fayette. Our Dry Goods and Grocery store changed hands a few days ago, Messrs. Carter & Peyton selling to Van Arsdale & Peeland, two young men of good business qualifications. We wish them success. Stock trade is not lively, but stock-hops sell readily at $4 64 25, and butchers' cattle at $6 35 50. Mr. L. D. Good shipped on Tuesday last, to the South, a car load of fat mules. The second session of the Turnersville High School commenced last Monday under the management of Prof. Chevis and wife. Married, at the bride's father's in this county, last week, Mr. Simpson of Guard, to Miss Josephine, daughter of Dr. Geo. Hume, Elder W. L. Williams officiating. A Grange will be organized here to-morrow with a membership of 29. J. D. Scope, who was engaged pretty extensively in the turkey trade recently, says that the women of this county had better turn their attention to something more profitable than turkey-raising at $1 25 per pair; and that he will speculate no more in the feathered tribe. Some of our farmers are breaking up corn ground.

TWO PETTY SWINDLERS.

Two petty swindlers, travelling under the sobriquet of LAWRENCE and BARKER, one a hunchbacked dwarf and the other a medium sized man with a heavy moustache, paid Stanford a visit on Monday last, and plied their nefarious calling upon the public square, collecting around them a miscellaneous crowd and occasionally catching a "sucker" pocketing a dollar and making one more soul unhappy. After the crowd had well-nigh turned over to the loose change they possessed to them, some of our officers, at the solicitation of a number of citizens, got out a writ for their arrest upon the charge of "setting up a lottery," an offense which is punishable with a fine of five hundred to ten thousand dollars. While the officers were procuring the necessary authority for their arrest some of their numerous accomplices advised them of the danger that threatened them, and they instantly fled for tall timber, taking with them their implements of humbuggery. But no man can escape Atkins when once he strikes his trail. They were captured a short distance from town and brought back for trial. It was ascertained after their arrest that they had a license from the clerk of the Board of Trustees to conduct their little game which Atkins took much delight in "gelling," but it was also known to that officer that they had obtained the license under a misrepresentation of their business. Witnesses were summoned, the court was seated and examined, the prisoners, one pale and wan, the other flushed from the effects of his first mile heat—a pretty pair of vagrants—were placed in the "stocks," and their traps exposed to the examination of experts. The below-looked advocate was at his post, was in hand, and a crowd of spectators composed principally of the victims of the day's "business" in attendance, and preparations completed to expose to the court and spectators the "ways that were dark and tricks that were vain" as practiced by these itinerant swindlers.

While the crowd was speculating upon the probability of a "continuance" of the case, and Buford was congratulating himself upon the certain arrest to his cattle of two of the most notorious-looking boarders, a consultation was held, which culminated in a compromise. A fine of $40 was assessed against the offenders (all the money they had mark you) money paid, witnesses excused without remuneration, experts dismissed, prisoners discharged, court adjourned and crowd dispersed.

We never expect to see the day when men will learn and practice the good old rule, "never be against a man's own tricks." In making a world, we presume it was an absolute necessity that some should be sharper and some fools—and the latter class it seems must predominate. "In defiance of demonstration, knives will continue to prowl the world; but the poor fellows must pass through a severe schooling season ere they are converted. We regret that our officers turned these cheap loose to practice their knavery on our citizens people. Every citizen of the county is interested in some extent in having punishment such swindlers, and to let these go free, only gave them the opportunity to reap their losses at Stanford by gulling the fools of Danville, or Lancaster, or some other place. We are not expert in games, but a brief examination of the traps of Lawrence & Barker, elicited the fact that by ingenious covering one figure on the card which they draw from their box enables them to make the ticket a loser or a lucky one. Hence it is that those unprincipled scoundrels who assisted them here were enabled to draw money every time. Beware of all travelling sharpers, and give Lawrence & Co., especially, the go by.

Non-Political Grangers.

HALL OF STANFORD GRANGE, Feb. 7, 74.

At a regular meeting of the Stanford Grange held this day, the following resolution was adopted and ordered published in the JOURNAL: Resolved, That we deprecate any attempt to use this organization for political purposes, and that we will not allow it used for or against one political party.

(Attest) JAS. A. HARRIS, M. JOHN BRIGHT, Secretary.

County Court Day.

Last Monday was our regular county court day. The weather was good, but the crowd in town was not large, owing to the fact that the Grange Circuit Court began on that day, and that many farmers were busy preparing to start their plows. The stock sales were none as will be seen from the report of auctioneers. We missed the sonorous voice of Col. Carpenter, auctioneer, he being absent for the first time for many months. We noticed—and indeed felt it very sensibly—that there was a lack of currency in circulation. The day was uneventful to many in that respect. The candidates were as thick as blackberries and juice-bugs, and the like of hand-shaking we never saw. We were honored with the familiar grip of—well, we won't call names—for the twentieth time. The Grange society was discussed freely, but with no special enthusiasm. The crowd expected to have the privilege of hearing the candidates air their rhetoric, but dispersed late in the afternoon disappointed.

LIVE STOCK ITEMS.

Local Sales and General Movements.

LAND AND CROP ITEMS.

There is a fair demand for nice medium mules in Louisville for city drays. Messrs. Burdick & Anderson bought in Cass county last week, 23 head of fat steers, 1,500 pounds at $5.

Messrs. Alford & Scope bought about 100 steers on Monday last, at $4 00 25, and some butchers' stuff at $2 per hundred.

I have for sale about 20 good yearling cattle, one mile from Stanford, on the Danville turnpike. JAMES GIVENS.

Fifty-six head of ten months old steers sold in Boyle last week, at 4 1/2; 65 head supposed to weigh 170 pounds, at $4 60; 20 head averaging 160 pounds, at 4 1/2.

There were several pairs of very fine mules on the streets here last Monday. Mr. Woods sold one pair to Mr. Kincaid, of Boyle for $275. Other sales were made but we did not learn the prices paid.

There is a considerable stir in this and adjoining counties, and in fact, wherever the stock can be bought, for fat shots, at prices ranging from 4 to 4 1/2. In Louisville, last Saturday, butchers were paying for heavy hogs $6 25; for medium, $5 50 25, and for light, fat shots, $4 75 50 per hundred, and pens clean at night.

SOUTHERN STOCK NEWS.

Mr. Eph. Woods, son of Robert Woods, of this vicinity, arrived here from Georgia on Tuesday last, and gave us the pleasure of an interview immediately upon his arrival in town. We are glad to learn that he did well considering the condition of the Southern market. He sold his mules in Rome Georgia, 21 head, at an average of $144 per head, getting each for nearly all of them. Mr. Geo. Givens realized about $134 per head for his lot of 38 head, and also returned Tuesday last. Mr. Woods says that the unfavorable reports from the Southern market are too true; and the glut is no myth. Hundreds of mules are arriving by every train. He says the further South you go with the mules the harder the market, and the old plan of "bushwhacking," or driving over the country is a failure this season, as planters have learned to go to the towns for their stock.

COURT DAY SALES.

Lancaster.—Last Monday was the first day of Circuit court, for the 1st and 2nd districts. Auctioneers favored us with the following report of stock sales made upon the streets on that day: Mountain steers from $35 to $50; cows from $24 to $35; 7 heifers and steers $10; 8 do $8 50; 10 do $11 50; lot of 2-year old steers $30; horses from $30 to $115.

Stanford.—Capt. Higgins reported a dull day in stock trade; he sold 10 2-year scrub cattle at $29 50; 12 yearling steers $12 80; 15 calves $18 25; 1 cow $35; 1 fat bullock $23 25 per hundred; steers per pair $10 to $20. Several extra pairs of mules in town but none offered publicly.

Lexington.—L. P. Mair reports 400 cattle on the market and generally all sold at from 23 to 40. Mule market perfectly demoralized. Col. Caldwell reports: good crowd present; 450 to 500 cattle offered and sold. The market had a downward tendency, on account of high price of corn. Sold 31 head of long yearlings $23 50; 52 head, supposed to weigh 850 to 900 lbs $30; 6 2-year old steers $38 40. Day one of depression to holders of stock.

Clarke.—But little business doing.

Pherigo & Dudderar sell coffee from $31 to 35 cents per pound.
